

What does the law say?

The Equality Act 2010 says that it is discrimination to treat anyone providing services, benefits, facilities and education bodies and associations. Discrimination includes of service or providing a service on different terms. Breastfeeding or refuse to serve you.

a woman unfavourably because she is breastfeeding. It premises to the public, public bodies, further and higher refusing to provide a service, providing a lower standard Therefore, a café owner cannot ask you to stop <http://www.maternityaction.org.uk>